Biography

Eleonora Ortaglio is a Legal Director at Abion, where she advises companies on complex commercial, intellectual property, and strategic transactions. She has significant experience in cross-border agreements, joint ventures, distribution and licensing arrangements, particularly in regulated and innovation-driven sectors. Eleonora regularly supports clients in structuring legally sound and business-oriented solutions, balancing risk management with commercial objectives.

She has handled high-profile strategic alliances, including international development and distribution projects, and is recognized for her pragmatic, clear, and results-focused legal approach.
